

Woodthorpe Grange Park

Healthy walks in Nottingham City's parks & open spaces

Points of interest:

- The land on which the park sits was bought by Nottingham City Council in 1921 for the sum of £15,000.
- The park was visited by King George V and Queen Mary on the 10th July 1928, as part of a tour of Nottingham. 17,000 school children travelled to the park to mark the event.
- Woodthorpe Grange Park has a rich diversity of specimen trees and woodland strips. There are over 1000 trees within the park.
- The park covers 20.28 hectares and is home to bats, woodpeckers, foxes and owls to name a few.
- The Grade Two listed building was built in 1874.
- The tropical house has plants from around the world on display including banana, lemon and coffee trees, as well as pomegranates and olives.
- Ashwells Tunnel, a former railway tunnel was sealed in 1978
