Introduction

The safety and well-being of every child is an integral part of his or her learning and social integration in a school. Teachers and support staff are particularly well placed to observe and assess the development and behaviour of children they may encounter on a daily basis.

Every member of staff is expected to play a part in the identification and prevention of abuse and neglect with sufficient knowledge, skills and awareness of safeguarding and child protection.

This training programme is available free of charge to any individual who works within a school or education setting within Nottingham City.

The Training Programme is a toolkit which professionals should use to ascertain the most appropriate training required for staff to enable them to undertake their duties and take an effective and efficient role in safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children. Delegates and managers should also refer to the training programme to check training renewal recommendations and ensure certification is kept up to date in advance of expiration at all times.

It is the individual setting's responsibility to record and maintain all training records at point of induction and on an ongoing basis throughout employment for all staff including permanent, temporary, and casual staff both school-based and non-school-based.

KCSIE, September 2022 states that schools and colleges give 'appropriate safeguarding and child protection training (including online safety) to all staff at induction. The training should be regularly updated. In addition, all staff should receive safeguarding and child protection (including online safety) updates (for example, via email, e-bulletins and staff meetings), as required, and at least annually, to provide them with relevant skills and knowledge to safeguard children effectively'.

Once training has been delivered, staff training records should be updated, and evaluations kept as evidence. These would sit alongside any other training records to form a complete safeguarding training portfolio for each member of staff.

Please refer to KCSIE, September 2022 for the full guidance on safeguarding training requirements.

Course Practicalities

All training will be delivered face to face within the 2022-2023 Safeguarding in Education training programme to help achieve learning aims and objectives and gain the assurances required when training on such a pivotal area of responsibility. Course venue, times and other practical information is included within this programme and also provided upon securing a place on the relevant course.

It is important to note that all delegates are expected to attend courses on time and in full for assurance of learning and certification- late arrivals may not be permitted due to the disruption that this may cause and missed learning.

You will receive an email confirmation of your place on the identified course prior to the course delivery date. If you DO NOT receive confirmation, then you do not have a place on the course due to it being full. Please do not turn up for the course unless you have had a confirmation, as it is likely you will be turned away.

Whole school/educational provision INSET training

Whole school/educational provision training brings a variety of skills and experiences together which reinforces the key message that safeguarding is everybody's business. An additional benefit of whole school/educational setting training is that it provides an arena for team building and enables all members of staff to fully appreciate the roles and responsibilities of their colleagues within safeguarding.

Many of our courses can be delivered in a whole school Inset day or divided into a number of twilight sessions (usually 2 x 2 hour sessions). Please note that to ensure there is full participation of all delegates there must be a minimum of 10 and a maximum of 50 delegates on whole school training. To enquire about whole school/ educational setting training please email the safeguarding training address: safeguardingineducation@nottinghamcity.gov.uk

Where agreed training takes place, the educational setting is expected to:

- Provide a room that is of a suitable size for the number of delegates attending (room ideally to be set out in cabaret style).
- Produce course material handouts for all staff attending, which will be sent electronically ahead of the training date (All handouts to be given to trainer on arrival – not distributed in advance).
- Complete the booking form detailing all attendees and other required information.
- Provide a flip chart stand, paper, and pens.
