

Local Installers for ECO Measures

Energy Company Obligation 4 is a Central Government scheme regulated by OFGEM, but funded by energy supply companies.

Access to the funding is via ECO installers who are private companies. The different companies will carry out different measures. ECO installers are encouraged by OFGEM to do two or more measures, rather than just one.

It is not a Nottingham City Council scheme, but we know of many ECO installers operating locally and what measures they are doing – see list below, others are expected to also operate in Nottingham.

If things go wrong

Energy Company Obligation is a Central Government scheme, overseen by OFGEM. However, OFGEM don't engage with installation problems and customers are advised to contact TrustMark. TrustMark is a Central Government scheme that operates a Dispute Resolution Process that installers should registered with.
